

Memorable Presentations
Courtesy of Ellis Shopping Customers

“When I inquired about the school my children would be attending, Brooke offered to drive me over and show me where the school was located.”

“Keith asked, “So what kind of pen would you like me to give you so you can fill out the application?”

“Tara and I were talking about Southern food. We both make greens and she said we would have to have a cook off.”

“When I mentioned how I would love to teach at CMU, Valerie gave me two people to contact at the university for more information. She said she would love to take my class!”

“Terry asked if I played pool. When I told him I did, he told me his lunch hour and told me that I should show him what I could do.”

“We were talking about grilling out and I told her I grill hamburgers every Sunday. Aracely said, ‘I’m coming over on Sundays when you move in - I like my burgers well done!’”

“Robert called to make sure I made it back to Orlando safely, because there was a tornado warning for that afternoon.”

“Rachel said that perhaps we could go to Pappadeaux's together sometime. She had never been there and I was thinking about going there for dinner.”

“When I got into my truck to leave, it would not start. Judith saw me and came out to see if there was anything I needed. Gene drove his vehicle around from the back, hooked up some jumper cables, and helped me get going.”

“When I questioned the size of the tub in the bathroom, I did not expect Eric to take his shoes off and lay down in the tub to help me see how long it was.”

“In conversation, I mentioned that I needed a manicure and did not know where to go. Tiffany gave me her personal nail stylist's place of business and telephone number.”

“I told Anthony that I liked to cook and he promptly smiled and offered to be a taste tester for me.”

“Alison offered for me to follow her to a nearby store I had asked about.”

“Marion put up a large black easel in the model near the door that had a drawing of flowers on it and my name to welcome me.”

“Jen stated she would help me with my yard sale when I moved in.”

“Michelle said that if I liked sewing for others that she would surely like for me to sew some things for her or show her some basic sewing skills.”

“As I was leaving Rhonda gave me muffins and juice boxes to take home for myself, my husband and my two kids.”

“Darleen asked me to teach her to play basketball.”

“I was starting to feel under the weather, so she advised of a pharmacy close by and suggested some good medicine to get for my cold.”

“Courtney and I spoke about how we wear eye masks to sleep and need water sounds to help put us to sleep. She then advised me how I could find a water sounds app on my smartphone.”

“Angie was really engaged in motorcycles and stated that she would love to see me race. She also asked, ‘Aren't you ready to move in so we can ride on some of these hot days?’”

“As I prepared to leave, Oscar asked me to wait. He said, ‘I have something special for you.’ He returned with a beautiful white living rose!”

“Avery asked my profession when he learned I was seeking work, and he gave me the name of a company in the area that had an immediate job opening for my field.”

“While I was in the office, a resident came in and gave Penny a present of a pie and some fruit. Penny gave me the pie and fruit as a welcoming present. I felt honored.”

“Brooklyn asked if I had plans for lunch and told me about several places nearby, even providing me with a menu from one of her favorite local restaurants.”

“She asked me about the novel I was writing and said she wanted a copy when it got published.”

“Cathy said she and I would learn sign language together after I moved in.”

“Connie offered to give me some of her husband's recipes once I moved in.”

“Daniela gave me a flower pot with a bag of flower seeds and said when I moved into my new apartment I could plant the flowers.”

“Edie had a cupcake, candy bags, and balloons for my daughter's birthday. She remembered me telling her over the phone that it was her birthday. She offered to help me carry everything to my car at the end of the visit.”

“I had mentioned that my air conditioning in my car had stopped working. Spencer offered to check under the hood of my car to see if it needed freon because it was very hot outside.”

“I mentioned that I made jewelry, fine art, and some costumes as well. Annie seemed excited and said she knew of some great places in town that I should go by and see if they would carry my products.”

“I told Kristy that I was not very good at decorating, and she said when I moved in she would come and help me because she loves to decorate!”

“I told Jason we traveled a lot, and he offered to pick up our mail and check on any of our plants while we were gone.”

“Jessica gave me a ride to the boat dock, saving me transportation fares and about an hour of time.”

“John mentioned he was a drummer and offered ideas on how to start my son out in playing drums.”

“One of the residents had just brought in a fresh-baked cake and Susie offered me a piece to eat or take home if I would like.”

“Scott found a dime on the grass, picked it up and handed it to me explaining I would now have 10 days of luck.”

“She mentioned how fresh the flowers smelled when we first exited the office, then bent down and cut a flower for me when we first started the tour. When I was leaving, she offered to gather more gardenias for me, placed them in a cup, and also gave me some seeds to plant my own flowers at home.”

“Tara said that I was ‘cracking her up’ and that when I moved in, she would be calling me on occasion just to make her laugh.”

“Wendi offered that my girls could come and play dolls with her anytime.”

“When we were casually talking, we determined that her sister and I shared an interest in kayaking. She suggested I stop by her sister's work so I could meet someone who shared my interests.”